2012-2013 French-Language Services Plan Submitted March 2012

Message from the Director & CEO

I am pleased to submit the 2012-2013 French-Language Services Plan for the Nova Scotia Human Rights Commission. The Commission remains committed to fulfilling the Government's obligations pursuant to the French-Language Services Act and Regulations.

Members of Nova Scotia's Acadian and Francophone communities make significant contributions to the business, cultural, political and academic life of the province. These citizens work, live and play in our cities and towns. It is important that French speaking Nova Scotians can access the important protections offered by the Nova Scotia Human Rights Act, so they can continue their important contributions to our province, and our country.

The past 12 months have brought about remarkable change at the Commission. A major program review resulted in dramatic improvements to dispute resolution, several new Commissioners have been appointed, and in January of 2012 I commenced a three year term as Director and CEO. Despite all of these changes, enhancing services in French remains an important objective.

New opportunities to improve services for Acadian and Francophone Nova Scotians will be sought, and efforts will continue to ensure the human rights of all citizens are protected.

David Shannon, Director & CEO

Responses to French Requests (Written and Oral)

Inquiry/Intake Services

The Human Rights Commission responds to phone inquiries and provides information to the public on human rights issues mainly through its phone service in the Halifax office, through distribution of print material and the website. Staff are directed to provide service in French, or make available service in French, to all callers and walk-in clients who request or need service in French. Our intake team can communicate in French both orally and in writing. This unit is assisted by other staff and students from the Commission who refer clients to French speaking staff as necessary.

Written Correspondence/Print Materials/Website

All written correspondence in French received by the Commission is replied to in French.

The Human Rights Act is available in French. Greater emphasis is being placed on providing information through the Commission's website rather than via printed booklets and brochures. The Commission revised and re-launched the English version of its website, and a French version will be now be prepared

Investigation/Mediation

Complaint investigation is a highly technical process that requires knowledge of and the ability to describe investigation techniques, legal theory and Commission policies. The Commission is fortunate to have attracted a staff member who is able to perform investigative functions in French. One investigation has already been carried out in French, and it is anticipated that more will follow. This is a significant move forward with respect to our capacity to serve French speaking clients.

Mediation remains an important part of the Commission's work. Changes to policy allow Human Rights Officers to mediate or resolve disputes, rather than relying exclusively on a roster of external mediators. One staff member has the ability to perform this function in French as necessary.

Training/Public Events/Media

Training and public events are generally conducted in English. Promotional material for public events, such as posters and brochures, are distributed in French.

One Commissioner has French as a first language and is available to conduct public speaking engagements in French. Several senior managers have B Level French capacity. Media releases involving Board of Inquiry decisions or other matters of relevance are distributed in French.

French Language Service Inventory

The Commission currently employs 24 people and operates provincially with three offices: a central office in Halifax and regional offices in Sydney and Digby. The Commission constantly strives to increase the capacity of its staff to provide services in French.

The Commission administers a roster of eight mediators who conduct mediations in different parts of the province. Currently eight Commissioners, serving on a part-time basis, come from diverse backgrounds and from different regions of the province. In addition, Board of Inquiry Panel Chairs make decisions on human rights cases.

Currently there are a number of staff who can communicate in French and competency levels vary. Two human rights officers working with Inquiry/Intake service are functionally bilingual, and two managers can also speak French.

The Commission has a number of brochures available in French. The Commission is in the process of updating all of the public information brochures and will have them available in French.
