

Workshop Overview

The purpose of the meeting is to:

Review outcomes for each session within the core training

Learning Outcomes (attached) have been identified for each of the sessions within the core training. The purpose of the outcomes is to better articulate the intention of each session. The outcomes can also be used to help identify what content needs to be included in each session and options for delivering the content. Questions may include:

1. Do the outcomes match what the disability community would want the training to deliver?
2. Are there any outcomes missing?
3. What is the best way to achieve these outcomes (presentation format/lived-experience panels etc.)

Explore embedding lived experience throughout the training

Currently, the training is using lived-experience panels as the primary way to bring the voice of people with disabilities and their families into the training. The discussion will explore the lived-experience panels as well as look at other ways to ensure the voice of people with disabilities and their families are included throughout the training. Questions may include:

1. Will lived-experience panels support the learning outcomes?
2. What questions should be used to contribute to learning outcomes?
3. What considerations should go into the selection of lived-experience panelists?
4. What could it look like to have people with disabilities and families help deliver sessions of the training?
5. How can videos or other technologies be used?

Support the development of case studies/examples

Currently, some sessions of the training use case studies or examples to engage the trainees with real life experiences. The discussion will include brainstorming some ideas that can be developed into case studies or examples. Questions may include:

1. How can the case studies be used to convey the lived experience of people with disabilities and families?
2. What main themes are important to be covered in case studies or examples?
3. Are there common experiences that can be highlighted through the use of case studies?
